TOWN BOARD PUBLIC HEARING

Submitted by Sue Beeners, Code Enforcement Officer

Proposed "Round 2-A"

Changes to Subdivision Regulations

On Monday, May 8, 2006, at 6:30pm, the Town Board will hold a Public Hearing to consider adoption of a Proposed Local Law Amending the Subdivision Regulations by Reclassifying Subdivisions, Modifying Procedures for Subdivision Applications, and Changing Requirements, Standards, and Guidelines Related to Environmental Conservation. The proposed revisions would:

- Allow some minor land divisions by permit from the Code Enforcement Officer, without Planning Board involvement.
- Remove the 60% Conservation Area requirement in Low Density Zones, while maintaining various provisions for environmental conservation.
- Reorganize the document to promote easier use.

For more information prior to the hearing, please contact the Town Clerk to see the Proposed Local Law and a complete summary of the proposed revisions. These documents are also available on the Town's web site, [town.danby.ny.us].

As always, everyone is invited to attend the May 8 Public Hearing. ❀

FAMILY PORTRAITS

Submitted by Pat Swartout

The Danby Federated Church is bringing in Olan Mills on June 20th to do family portraits of all community members. Each family sitting is free and each family will receive a free 8x10 portrait with the possibility of purchasing additional portraits. Only one visit is required to be photographed and to select portraits. Contact information and more details to follow. ❀

PLANT EXCHANGE

Submitted by Dan Klein

When: Saturday, May 13, 2006, Noon-3pm

Where: Danby Fire Station

The 14th annual Plant Exchange is a free opportunity to swap, donate, and try new perennials, houseplants, seeds, and anything else garden related. It is not necessary to bring a plant in order to get a plant, nor is it necessary to stay the whole time. For more information call 272.7582, or Email [danbydan@hotmail.com]. ❀

DIGNIFIED FLAG DISPOSAL

Submitted by Bill Brown, Post Adjutant

Residents of Tompkins County can now leave their worn and tattered American Flags at any American Legion Post in the county. Flags are then properly disposed of in a dignified ceremony.

The four Posts each have a new flag deposit box, easily identifiable by the red and white stripes and white stars on a blue background. The boxes arrived at their new duty through a project initiated by the Tompkins County American Legion and supported by the Ithaca Post Office (donated retired mail boxes) and TST BOCES (repaired and painted at the Body Shop). ❀

DANBY TOWN HISTORY

Submitted by Joan Grant, Town Historian

THE ROOT CELLAR

In the days before cold storage, pioneers knew how to store their harvests properly. They built root cellars. In an underground room, they could safely keep potatoes, carrots, tomatoes, etc., from freezing, for quick retrieval all winter. An original root cellar was dug with a pick and shovel.

Temperature: Summer temperatures in the root cellar hover around 50 to 51 degrees and in the winter between 45 to 47 degrees. The root cellar borrows its cold from the ground. "Earth, even two feet down, gives remarkable year wide temperature stability."

Humidity: Most fruits and vegetables require high humidity when in storage. A root cellar generally maintains its own (high humidity) because it draws moisture from the dirt floor.

Circulation: The highly efficient root cellar is vented. Vegetables give off gasses that are conducive to either spoilage or sprouting. For instance, apples give off ethylene gas which makes potatoes sprout prematurely. Vents are placed at ceiling and floor levels to help exchange air. Fresh air enters at the floor and gas permeated air exits at the ceiling. Shelves are built out about 2 inches from the walls to help promote circulation around the stored fruits and vegetables. It's important to store apples above potatoes. Vents need to be closed or plugged in the winter to avoid freezing temperatures from entering the cellar. Trips to the cellar in the winter will afford enough air exchange to avoid problems.

Size: An 8'x8' cellar is sufficient for the average family and a 5'x8' will hold 30 bushels of produce.

Shelves: Shelves should be built with rot proof cedar or pressure treated lumber. The more shelves the better use of space.

Type of Cellar: A cellar with the easiest access in the winter (no snow lying on the door) is one that is built into the side of a hill. For optimum efficiency, the door would be facing north. It isn't likely to flood and if water were to enter it would run out easily. Bracing is often required in the ceiling, though. The hillside root cellar is more difficult to excavate. A flat ground cellar is much easier to excavate and is less expensive to build.

A horizontal door can be built over the staircase to help avoid shoveling in the winter. Bracing is usually at a minimum. A part-of-the-house cellar is one dug underground and attached to the foundation of the house, possessing a connecting doorway and a dirt floor.

Construction Methods: A cellar with dirt walls and floor is the simplest and the best for humidity control. If the floor is too damp, 3" of gravel can be put down and will raise the floor up high enough to keep shelves drier. In the same way, if the cellar floor is too dry, 3" of gravel can be put down and then water sprinkled over it to increase humidity. Wood walls can be built with gaps in the boards to allow humidity to penetrate the cellar. Rot resistant or pressure treated wood is the most effective.

Using a root cellar:

- Make sure doors are kept closed.
- Open vents overnight in late spring and early fall to take advantage of the cool overnight temperatures as long as there is no chance of freezing.
- Be sure that the root cellar floor is dirt.
- Use sand or sawdust to pack root vegetables.
- Cover vegetables with burlap, towels, etc., to absorb excess moisture.
- In extremely cold weather, if the root cellar is in danger of freezing, hang an electric light bulb. Remember to cover potatoes to prevent them from turning green from exposure to light. Kerosene lanterns should never be used because they produce ethylene gas.
- Leave as much undisturbed snow as possible over the root cellar as snow acts as an insulator.
- Any spoiled produce needs to be immediately removed to prevent additional loss.

DANBY TOWN TALK IN THE ITHACA JOURNAL

Submitted by Gay Huddle, Ithaca Journal Correspondent

I find out many interesting things while gathering information for the Danby Town Talk column. I've talked to people who can find water with a stick, repair roofs torn off by brutal storms, volunteered as a firefighter/rescue person for 50 years, and more!

Neighbor kids are all grown up, getting married (Robyn Wernham to David Hays and David Payton to Marika) and having babies (Denise Benjamin McDermitt and her husband Dave welcomed Brian Austin to their family). Frannie Mason continues to remember us all on every holiday with cards and notes (bless her heart).

COMPREHENSIVE PLAN TASK FORCE

Submitted by Sue Beeners

This is a summary; contact the Town Clerk for the official minutes. This meeting on April 5, 2006 included a Joint Meeting with the Town Board.

The Town Board agreed in concept to some proposed revisions for the new "Round 2" phase, which the Task Force will further refine and present to the Town Board and Planning Board.

These proposed revisions include providing options for Flexible Lot Dimensions and Flag Lots, without having to go to the Planning Board. Other proposed revisions are to be further worked on by the Task Force. The Task Force is also continuing to work on Bonus Lots for Agricultural Land Reservation, and a Right to Farm Law.

The Town Board also agreed to have the County help the Town by providing basic information and tools for planning for the Central and West Danby Hamlets. The Task Force will review maps of environmental and land use conditions in the Hamlets, potential hamlet development scenarios based on environmental, physical, and infrastructure constraints, consider whether a hamlet survey should be conducted, and help prepare a new Strategic Planning grant application to the State.

The next Task Force Meeting is on Wednesday, May 10, at 7:00, at the Town Hall. All are welcome. ❧

Danby sure serves up great meals, with breakfast at the Fire Station, chicken and biscuits at the Church (you can't miss helper John VanDeMark in his purple gloves), and chicken BBQ/spaghetti/steak at the American Legion Post. If you haven't been supporting these events, hopefully you will next time.

The Danby Scoop is open for ice cream, and I look forward to sitting at the tables on warm nights chatting with other ice cream lovers.

The Danby Quilters have made beautiful quilts and you can take a chance on winning them at Danby Fun Day, July 15 (please remember that volunteers/participants are always needed for this event so get involved in this fun community day). I am the contact person for desserts for the cake wheel so, if you can donate some goodies, please give me a call at 273.6530 or Email me at [gayhuddle@hotmail.com].

A lacrosse club team from Ithaca College has been practicing at the school fields and it might make for some fun to take a lawn chair and watch. Danby is a terrific town to live in.

If you have Danby stories of any kind please send them on to me so I can share them with Ithaca Journal readers. I'm getting very positive feedback about how much the town column is enjoyed by so many. The Danby Town Talk column appears every other Thursday. I send the finished column in to the Journal each Monday before those Thursdays. ❧

DANBY COMMUNITY LIBRARY

Submitted by Patti Meyers

"Here they come and I'm not ready. How could I be? I'm a new teacher and learning on the job. On the first day of my teaching career, I was almost fired for eating the sandwich of a high school boy. On the second day I was almost fired for mentioning the possibility of friendship with a sheep. Otherwise, there was nothing remarkable about my thirty years in the high school classrooms of New York City. I often doubted if I should be there at all. At the end I wondered how I lasted that long."
— Frank McCourt in Teacher Man.

Look for an upcoming Summer Reading List for all potential book discussion group members. The Summer Reading Program is a "treasure" for kids this year and we'll be signing kids up for prizes to be earned starting in June and also at the Danby Parade and Fun Day.

New collections due in the Danby Community Library are Juvenile nonfiction, instructional videos, Adult nonfiction, Biographies and Young Adult Fiction. Best-sellers arrive weekly (look for them on Thursdays) thanks to the McNaughton leasing program through Tompkins County Public Library. Hope you get to the Friends of the Library Booksale, too.

Come in and thank a volunteer today...sign up to volunteer...and all of Danby Community Library extends our thoughts to one of our volunteers, Esther Dotson, on her recent loss. ❧

DANBY VOLUNTEER FIRE COMPANY

Submitted by Beatrice Hogben, Trustee, 272.5294

The Danby Volunteer Fire Company held breakfasts for the public on March 19 and April 2. Both were well attended and we appreciate the community's attendance and help. The breakfasts resumed a tradition suspended during the winter of 2004-2005 due to lack of personnel. This year, we offered two breakfasts instead of four and community members helped us pull it off.

In case you missed the events, we offered a great spread: eggs cooked to order, home fries, pancakes, ham, sausage, French toast, coffee, hot chocolate, and orange juice, all served at tables by our volunteer wait staff. Door prizes, a 50-50 raffle, and fire prevention educational materials were also offered, with all proceeds used to help the Danby Volunteer Fire Company to purchase fire or medical equipment and station supplies.

We are thrilled with the numbers: 157 breakfasts on March 19 and 192 breakfasts on April 2. A few items were in short supply each time, and we apologize to any who missed their favorite treats.

Our hearty thanks to the many area residents who helped: Garry Huddle, Joan Grant, Kristen Grant, Sue Beeners, Jane Dunnick, June Pollack, Barbara Robinson, Connie Szczepanski, Gene Szczepanski, and Asher Hockett. Without your participation, we honestly could not have offered the breakfasts.

We hope to offer breakfasts again during the winter of 2006-2007, possibly starting earlier in the season. ❧

Community Council Youth Programs April-June 2006

Programs are for youth from the town of Danby; the age range is listed for each program. Look for brochures and registration forms in the Danby Store, at the Town Hall, and on the web: [<http://www.cce.cornell.edu/tompkins/rys/local.htm>] To have a brochure mailed or faxed to you, please contact Tom Archibald, 607.272.2292 x222, or [tga4@cornell.edu]. Remember, these programs fill up, so register early. Feel free to sign up even if a program is already underway.

Primitive Pursuits—Grades 4-8

Danby Federated Church

Fridays, April 14–June 16, 3:30–6pm

Learn ancestral living skills such as friction fires, shelter building, native crafts, nature awareness, tracking & more! Participants connect to the local environment through earth living skills and nature awareness.

Picture Perfect—Grades 4-8

Boynton Middle School

Thursdays, April 13–May 25, 2:30–5pm

Do you like photography? Check out this program: we will make old-fashioned pin-hole cameras, do some Polaroid art, and dive into the digital world. We'll make photo collages and find ways to make pix look 'picture perfect'...we can even put them up on display.

Youth Beautification Brigade—Grades 3-8

Danby Town Hall

Saturdays, May 6, May 20, and June 3, 9am–Noon

Hang out and have fun as we make the Town Hall even more beautiful than it already is. We'll finish building a garden bench around a tree trunk, plant some flowers, and have fun in the sun while we're at it!

Danby Farmers' Market—Grades 6-11

Pavilion at the Danby Fire House

Thursdays June 1–22 (3:30–5:30pm),

Tuesday June 27 (11am–1pm),

and Thursdays June 29–August 24 (1–6pm)

Whether you're 14 years old or older and looking for a job, or whether you're a little younger and looking for a great volunteer experience, the Farmers' Market awaits you this summer. You will get to be outside, meet lots of people, learn skills that will help you get more jobs later on, discover where our food comes from, practice cooking, and more. In June, we'll meet to get ready for the season (including some fun field trips to the Ithaca Farmers' Market and to a local farm) and then open for business on July 6. If you're 14 or older and want to work be sure to apply early to have a better chance of getting the job!

TEAM FUN: Fun Day Planning—Grades 3-8

Danby Town Hall

Fridays, June 23–July 14 (9am–Noon)

and Saturday July 15 (9am–3pm)

Raise your hand if you like Fun Day! I know I do. Just think how extra fun it would be to join the team that makes Fun Day possible. We'll design a T-shirt that will be sold during Fun Day and we'll touch up the old games and make up new ones. During Fun Day on July 15, we'll be responsible for running games and crafts and just making sure all your neighbors have LOTS of fun.

Floating Classroom

July 10–13 (9am–1pm)

Explore Cayuga watershed streams and the lake on a floating classroom: an exciting and unique opportunity to learn about our watershed and to perform scientific water tests in a local stream and aboard a floating classroom boat.

For more information, or to share your ideas about potential youth programs, feel free to call. The more the merrier, so please don't hesitate to come and try these wonderful free programs. Homeschoolers are more than welcome. Youth who don't go to Boynton are also more than welcome to come to the program that meets there. Wherever you are, in or near Danby, just come! See you soon!!
