Flower Workshop

As this beautiful summer in Danby winds down, who's ready to celebrate by creating gorgeous flower bouquets?

Come to the Dotson Park Pavilion on Saturday, September 5, 1-3pm, for Danby Community and Park's annual all-ages flower bouquet workshop. Rain date is Sunday, same time and place.

Flowers, vases and tools will be provided, but feel free to bring your own! There is no cost to attend but donations are welcome.

Julie Clougherty of Okalee Flower Farm is hosting this event. She notes that, "Every year, I'm blown away by the gorgeous creations participants produce. I know this year will be no exception!"

Please RSVP to Julie, [okalee.farm@gmail.com] by September 3, so she knows how much "stuff" to bring. (jc)

September Sing In The Park

Danby Community and Park continues its Music in the Park on Sunday, September 6, 2-5pm. Yes, it's Labor Day weekend. What better way to take a break from home work and harvest labor than to spend some time in the park sharing songs and tunes? All instruments and all voices are welcome. Song leaders will help get things started.

This has been a popular summer gathering, bringing people together to share music for the first time. Play a tune, sing a song, or just listen. Got songs or tunes about work or play? Apples or gardening? Music for the seasons turning? We don't aim for perfect performances. Music in the Park hits its mark by sharing songs and tunes in Dotson Park's natural acres.

Bring your out-of-town weekend guests! Danby is a great, and a welcoming place. There's no rain date; light rain is no problem, we'll be under cover. If that doesn't hold water, we'll need to wait for October's Harvest Festival.

There is no fee, but contributions to support the Park are welcome. Light snacks are provided and you're welcome to bring more. Sing, play, or listen. No registration, just show up with your friends and family! (pg)

Going Full Reed, Full Speed

Danby's Community Concert series, presented by Danby Community and Park, returns on Saturday, September 19, 3pm...with bagpipes and bassoon. And a bombard.

This concert is in the Fellowship Hall of Danby's Community Church is free! Bring the family for an up close and personal visit with these not-quite-unusual instruments.

What could be more fun than going full reed with a blend of traditional Celtic tunes and baroque music? Northumbrian smallpiper Dick Hensold and bassoonist Rosalind Buda bring multiple musical styles along with original pieces that you just can't have without bagpipes, bassoons, and other polite reed instruments. Well, mostly polite; there's that bombard.

Both musicians have spent years playing the traditional music of Scotland, Ireland, Northumberland, and Brittany. The performers are walking encyclopedias of the music's history. You will hear duets for smallpipes, songs accompanied by pipes and whistles, Breton tunes with a bombarde, and the unusual pairing of Northumbrian smallpipes with bassoon.

Rosalind (Scottish smallpipes, bassoon, bombard, whistles, voice) earned a Master's Degree in Bassoon Performance from the New England Conservatory. A busy orchestral, chamber, and solo musician; she currently works with eleven ensembles.

Dick (Northumbrian smallpipes, Scottish reel pipes, whistles, and recorder) is internationally known and is a leading smallpiper in North America. His musical diversity and compositional skills result in creative and unusual concert programs.

This program is made possible in part with funds from the Statewide Community Regrant program from the New York State Council on the Arts, with the support of the office of the Governor and NYS Legislature, administered by Tompkins County's Community Arts Partnership

Candor Quilt Raffle

The Candor Quilt Guild, New Quilters on the Block creates a lovely quilt every year, to raise raise money for the Candor Ambulance Squad and other community groups, such as the food pantry or Make a Child Smile.

This year's quilt is called Autumn Leaves.

Candor's Fall Festival is October 10 and 11, and its quilt show is held at the Candor Ambulance building on Main Street. The drawing for the quilt will be on Sunday, October 11 at 4pm. To take a chance to win this quilt, the cost is $1 for 1 ticket, or 6 tickets for $5. You need not be present to win.

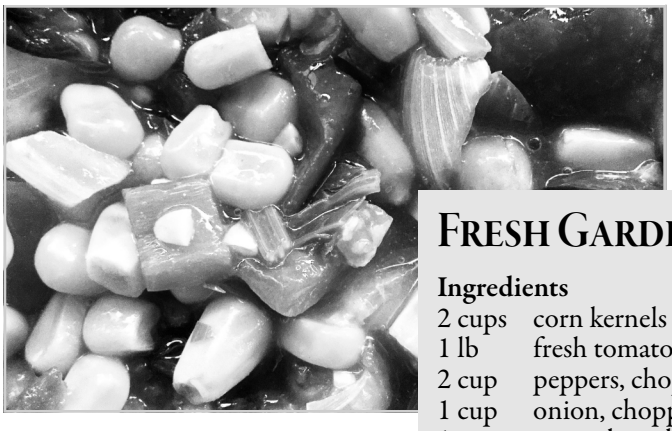

If you can't visit the quilt show, I have tickets available for purchase. Call Cindy Ceracche, 607.339.9269. (cc)

Danby News Notes

Submission Guidelines: Before submitting an item for the Danby News, please have a look at the Submission Guidelines. You can request them by Email from the editor at [danbynews@danbycc.org] or find them at [danbyny.org/DanbyNews]. If you're thinking of sending something for publication in the Danby News, there's two documents to read: the Guidelines and the Submission Guidelines at the same web location.

You'll learn what is, and isn't acceptable material for publication. If it's acceptable, we'll make an effort to include it; generally, we print everything we receive! You'll find hints about how to prepare a submission. Following these guidelines makes the editing and layout easier.

A terse version of these guidelines is in the left-hand column of this page. (tc)

Cooking for Abundance

September is harvest time. Got your own garden? It's probably full of tomatoes, peppers, cukes, onions, corn, and so much more. Or, maybe, you're enjoying the generosity of family, friends, or neighbors, like the wonderful / Harvest Share/ at the Danby Community Church's food stand.

What to do with all of the abundance? This is a good time to make the most of the harvest, and maybe preserve some for the long nights of winter. We've made a delicious relish that doubles as a sweet/savory side dish. It's a great pot-luck item, an alternative to pasta and leafy salads. Let's call it, Fresh Garden Relish. (pg)

Fresh Garden Relish

Ingredients

2 cups	corn kernels (2 ears==1 cup)
1 lb	fresh tomatoes, coarsely chopped
2 cup	peppers, chopped (red are pretty!)
1 cup	onion, chopped
1 cup	cucumber, chunks (about ½ cuke)
1 cup	apple cider vinegar
1 cup	celery leaves/stems, chopped
⅓ cup	sugar
some	salt
some	mustard (seeds or prepared)
some	hot pepper, chopped, optional

Preparation

- Prep everything. Most of the veggies can be chopped to a little bigger than the corn kernels, but leave the cukes a bit bigger.
- Premix the cider, sugar. and any spices.
- Combine all of the ingredients in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer for 30-60 minutes with the cover off to reduce the liquids. You may want to add a bit of your favorite thickener at the last moment.

Ours never makes it past serving bowls (as a condiment or side dish). It will keep in the refrigerator for several days. You can follow standard canning procedure to preserve pint jars for later treats.

Food Security and Resources

As many of you know, there have been significant changes to federal programs and funding that affect people's ability to access affordable, healthy food. On top of these changes, food prices continue to rise, creating more financial hardship for families.

My work at Tompkins Food Future [tompkinsfoodfuture.org] focuses on supporting a resilient, equitable, and healthy food system in our region and beyond, and these changes have motivated me to share information and resources more broadly.

If you—or someone you know—is struggling to afford or access or afford food, there are resources available in our community. Here's a summary!

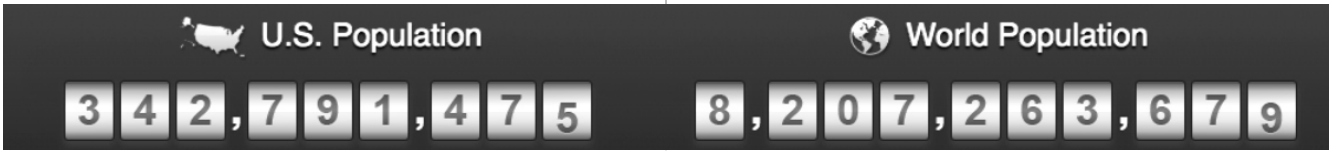

[foodbankst.org/find-food] The most comprehensive resource available to help folks find food offered primarily through community food distribution sites like pantries, schools, health care offices, etc.

Applying for SNAP Formerly known as food stamps, SNAP helps families and benefits local economies.

Community Member Recognized For Lifesaving Actions

The West Danby Volunteer Fire Department recently presented a plaque to West Danby Resident Paul Hemsley, in recognition of his lifesaving actions after a serious motor vehicle accident on February 28, 2026.

After two vehicles collided, one of the vehicles began to catch fire. Before emergency crews arrived, Paul stopped to help the occupant who was unable to get out on his own. He cut the occupant's seatbelt and assisted him from the vehicle before it became fully involved in fire.

His quick thinking, courage, and willingness to step forward during a dangerous situation likely saved the occupant's life.

The officers and members of the West Danby Volunteer Fire Department were proud to recognize him for his actions and are grateful to have people in our community who are willing to help their neighbors when it matters most. (wdfd)

Fall Resilience Fair

Danby's Resilience Community will host its Fall Resilience Fair on Saturday, October 3, 10am-5pm at the Danby Volunteer Fire Company (rain: Sunday).

Presenters so far include: Getting started in Beekeeping; Friction Fire Practice; Trees for Food, Fun and Transformation; Eat Local Nuts; Land Use in Danby; and Practical Printmaking.

We're looking for more presenters. Are you interested in sharing something "resilience" related? We're filling up 50-minute presentation slots for two locations: one indoors (with a projector), the other outside under the pavilion. Sign up at: [forms.gle/sdrNKzGuR6iek1baA].

We're also looking for local groups to table to talk about their purpose and for local vendors to sell their products. Same form.

Our two prior fairs were a lot of fun and we hope you'll join us! (eb)

Soon: 2026 Harvest Festival

Join the Danby Community at Dotson Park for the 11th not-quite-Annual Harvest Festival. This year, we will not be rained out: the event is planned for Columbus Day Weekend. Saturday, October 10 by choice, Sunday if it rains on Saturday, and Monday , just in case.

No worries, it'll be wonderful weather on Saturday.

There's a lot to celebrate. Apples, pumpkins, autumn leaves. The beauty of Danby and its people. And, most especially, a bright future for the Park. The Harvest Festival is sponsored by the Danby Community and Park, with grant support from the Community Foundation and Community Arts Partnership.

The Festival's favorite family events will return! The huge pumpkin-throwing trebuchet (and its diminutive sidekick, the potato launcher) are coming out of hibernation. Bring a pumpkin (6-inch, maximum) or bring a cull potato or other small stuff (2-inch, tops) for launching. Both are always a crowd pleasers.

A trebuchet uses gravity: down comes the weight, up and out goes the pumpkin. The hand-held potato launcher propels small objects, like lemons and potatoes, very far and very fast. They literally vanish from sight!

What's a festival without a bonfire? We'll roast hot dogs and not dogs, toast marshmallows, and gather 'round for singing at the end of the afternoon. There will be activities for children of all ages, including face painting and exploring the natural beauty that is Dotson Park.

Don't forget music! Lloyd's Boys will return with toe-tapping banjo and fiddle tunes. They will be playing off and on all afternoon, with breaks where you can ask about their instruments and the background of their music.

We're inviting community-oriented organizations, like Danby's Fire Department, Cooperative Extension, the County's Recyclers, and even the SPCA to present fun and educational information tables. If you'd like to table and talk about your interests, or even sell your local product, give us a shout [ContactUs@dotsonpark.org].

Bring your instruments and voices for the end-of-day sing-around and music swap at the campfire. Dotson Park, at 1825 Danby Road, is downtown Danby's nature and recreation centerpiece. Year-round, visit the Natural Playground, the Hypar-shaped picnic pavilion, the Disc Golf course, and miles of easy hiking trails.

Check out [dotsonpark.org]. You donate online or in person to help preserve the park and provide resources for future improvement. (dcap)

TC Health Dep't: Measles

Tompkins County Whole Health has alerted the community that measles cases are rising in neighboring counties, including Tioga and Seneca Counties.

Measles is a highly contagious virus and spreads rapidly among those who are unvaccinated. Being unvaccinated increases risks for severe complications, hospitalization and death. Those most at risk of infection include unvaccinated infants, children or adults (excluding those who were born before 1957, who are considered immune), pregnant persons, and those with weakened immune systems.

TCWH urges everyone to be vaccinated against measles.

The measles virus is easily spread through the air when an infected person coughs or sneezes or by direct contact with a contaminated surface. Symptoms can take from 7 days up to 21 days from exposure to occur. A red and blotchy rash may occur within 3-5 days, usually appearing on the face first. With the rash, fever temperatures may rise above 104°F.

Complications from measles are serious. If you suspect you were exposed to measles, contact the Division of Community Health at 607.274.6604. Post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) for measles may be given within 72 hours of exposure.

Free Rabies Vaccination Clinic

Rabies is a deadly disease caused by a virus that attacks the central nervous system (brain and spinal cord). Infected mammals can transmit rabies virus to humans and other mammals.

Pet vaccination is key to keeping your pets and your family protected from rabies. New York State requires all cats, dogs, and ferrets to have their first rabies vaccination between 3 and 4 months of age.

Tompkins County's Whole Health Department holds rabies clinics throughout the year to ensure you are able to keep your pets protected. The next clinic is on September 12, 11am-2pm, in the TCAT Bus Garage, 737 Willow Avenue in Ithaca. It's a drive-thru clinic: you remain in your vehicle. Pets must still be held on a leash or in a carrier.

Register for an appointment by calling 607.274.6688. Vaccination is free, but donations are accepted. If your animal has had previous rabies vaccinations, please bring vaccination records to the clinic.

Appealing The Unappealing

Board of Zoning Appeals

As the Danby News goes to press, Danby's Board of Zoning Appeals will be hearing an appeal of a determination written by the Town's interim Planner. A Public Hearing will follow, probably in September.

The text of the appeal (which can be found on the Town's web site; you'll have to navigate to the BZA meeting page, then into the case itself) reads like a textbook example of municipal overreach and poor procedure. Of course, the appeal document is just one point of view but a central issue involves plain common sense: can a hired employee override Town law?

The Town Supervisor has defended the Planner's action several times in Facebook posts (in the Danby/South Hill group). Those posts, and the comments they inspire, are worth reading.

Town Board Discuses Money

During its August 18 meeting, a number of items—more than the usual—reflected unexpected and unexpectedly large Town expenses.

Every Fall, the Town routinely enacts a Tax Cap Override law as a safety measure, it does so even when it does not expect to exceed the NYS Tax Cap (limiting the growth of public budgets and tax levies). This year, one Board member felt, an override might be necessary, not just a safety measure.

- The cost of employee health insurance may increase as much as 20 percent.
- West Danby's Water District received estimates for as much as $12 million for system modernization. The necessary minimum work estimate was about $13,000, which was not anticipated in the 2026 budget.
- The much-discussed crosswalk from Town Hall to Dotson Park was once said to cost around $50,000. Back then, the TB claimed that figure included work on Town Hall. Guess what? Bids have been received: $57,000 for the crosswalk and $200,000+ for Town Hall. The TB hopes to find savings by re-bidding it in the winter, "When contractors need more work."

For reference, the Town's entire annual budget is around $2.5 million (compare to $12 million and $257,000+, so the cost estimates are not insignificant. (tc)

The sunk cost fallacy: Our tendency to follow through on an endeavor if we have invested time, effort, or money into it, even when its not the best decision. (How Danby, among others, passes laws.)

Reminiscing #46

From the September 27, 2012 Danby Town Talk column

At the recent Bald Hill Pie Contest, held at Jennings Pond, Miss Sophia Patt was the winner in the children's category for her "made from scratch" butterscotch pie. This event has grown under the direction of Jean and John Rowley; evolving into a yearly gathering of the folks who make their homes on Bald Hill Road.

Sophia, an 11-year-old sixth grader at the new Waldorf School on Nelson Road, learned to bake from her Mom, Mary, and from a friend named Judy. This was Sophia's first attempt at pie making; her specialty has been cakes and pancakes. The winner in the adult category was David Studwell, a professional actor who baked what a /Drupey Pie/ made from sour cherries, peaches, and apricots.

The Danby Pirates Club on Fisher Settlement Road will be holding an all-day 3-D Bow Shoot on Saturday, September 30, with breakfast starting at 7:00 a.m.

Members of American Legion Post #221 on Danby Road have been very busy this summer. They have completed work on the pavilion, put a new roof on the building and changed the look of the front entrance with a new door and steps, and are gearing up for the fall/winter season.

Shorter days. Cooler evenings. Golden leaves. Red apples. Tart cider. Fat pumpkins. Corn husks rustling in the breeze. And this fall we are counting down the days to our daughter Kasey's wedding next week to her sweetie, Kyron. This really is my favorite time of the year!

Happy birthday wishes to a special Red Hat Lady, Ms. Blanche Marshall of Ithaca. Blanche will be celebrating her 102nd birthday on October 1!

Charlie Bruce was a heck of a ballplayer. He was a handsome man with a great laugh. Charlie was well-known and well-liked in the Danby community, including within the Danby Volunteer Fire Company. Charlie passed away last week and my thoughts are with his family at this sad time. Thoughts also go out to the family of long-time Danby neighbor Joan Babbitt, a former Danby Town Clerk ,who passed away last week in Florida. (gh)

Bald Hill Picnic and Pie Contest

This annual event features a scrumptious potluck, followed by a contest in which neighborhood pieces are tasted, judged, and devoured. Bring a dish to pass, eating utensils and, if you can, a pie for the contest.

Saturday, September 12, 5pm, in Jennings Pond Park.

Why is the Danby News Like Public Radio?

The Danby News is the place to go in Danby. But, why is it like Public Radio? In a nutshell, neither one is beholden to partisan government interference.

① We primarily present items from community members and organizations. Like Public Radio, the DN provides information that supplements and, sometimes, clarifies official, sanitized verbiage in expensive, taxpayer-funded publications.

② By law, government publications must present the government in a positive light. To paraphrase Public Radio, "Our goal is not to please the government we cover, or to manufacture an appearance of balance. We aim to present the facts as we know them."

③ The choice to defund both the DN and Public Radio was not budget-related. Sometimes, public officials feel threatened by distribution of a different perspective. Danby now budgets about twice as much for its house organ than it formerly paid for the DN. Danby's powers have said, on the record, that they expected [and intended] their decision to defund would shut down the DN.

④ Both the DN and Public Radio depend on the your contributions to keep an independent voice alive.

Help us cover the cost of your issues! It'd be great if every Danby-ite could afford a subscription ($15 or more per household). Not everyone can...or does. Those who can offer larger, lifeline contributions help provide coverage for everyone else.

Please make checks payable to Danby Community and Park, note Danby News in the memo, and mail to P.O.Box 6886, Ithaca, NY 14851-6886.

Paws To Remember

Danby's Community Church has a pet loss support group, Pa To Remember, that meets on the first Saturday of the month, 9:30am, at 1859 Danby Road.

For many, losing a beloved, long-term pet is like losing a family member. The group provide compassionate support to individuals navigating this difficult journey. In times when comfort is greatly needed, the pet loss group stands ready to offer both empathy and support.

For more information or questions contact Pastor Ed Enstine, 607.592.8276, or Janet Gray, 607.227.0141, or visit [danbychurch.org/paws-to-remember]. (jg)

Seniors

The next meeting of the Danby Seniors will be on Thursday, September 3, Noon, in Danby's Community Church, 1870 Danby Road. Please bring a generous dish to pass with a serving utensil and your own place setting. Drinks are provided.

Our guest speakers will be Dr. Marguerite Uphoff and Ms. Susan Beckley, talking about the NY Health Care Act (NYHA). It's a bill being considered by both houses of the NY Legislature. They are very familiar with what is involved with this bill and are sure to send you home with valuable information. There will be time for Q&A following the presentation.

This presentation is open to the community and will begin between 1:15 and 1:30pm.

On Friday, September 11 the Danby Seniors are sponsoring a bus trip to Phelps Mansion in Binghamton [phelpsmansion.org] for a guided tour. Afterward, we'll lunch at Little Venice in Binghamton and there will be an opportunity for shopping at "Needful Things" [yourneedfulthings.biz], a vendor marketplace where you will discover antiques, home decor, crafts, furniture, and collectibles. There will be walking at both venues.

The bus will pick up at the church at 9:30am and return around 4pm. Cost, including lunch, is $45 for members and $50 for non-members. Sign up with Cindy Cerracche, 607.339.9269.

Our October meeting will be on October 1. (pp)

Have You Been Flocked?

Everyone talks about Flock Cameras. The City of Ithaca, along with other municipalities, canceled its Flock contract and removed the cameras. Other locations have hundreds of cameras monitoring the streets. One was even spotted on Van Kirk Road in Newfield!

There's no way to know if your picture has been captured. According to WTHR in Indiana, privacy concerns have grown following Flock misuse by some law enforcement officials. WTHR calls attention to a web site with information compiled from public record requests. Its catalog of Flock camera request logs is available at [haveIbeenFlocked.com]. You can look up your plate!

The web site urges viewers to help out by submitting records requests (FOILs) to local law enforcement.

It's better to have it and not need it,
than to need it and not have it.

Community Library

Danby's Community Library will be closed for Labor Day on Saturday, September 5.

Just a reminder: when signing out an item from the library, please complete the card in the front with your name and the due date. Also write the due date on the card pocket so that we can match the item returned with the original sign out card. If you are new to the library please complete a new patron card and include an eMail address, mailing address or phone number so that we may contact you if needed.
